

LANSING
BUILDING PRODUCTS

Get ready for LansingNOW.

On May 1st of this year, Lansing Building Products and the distribution business of Harvey Building Products officially became one company, serving one unified mission for our customers: to deliver excellence from the inside out in everything we do. Since then, I've watched the team work tirelessly to create an integration plan that will officially combine all system operations, minimize disruption and ultimately create new standards of excellence for our industry.

Over the next six weeks, all of the newly acquired Harvey branch locations will migrate to Lansing's operating system and officially begin serving you as Lansing Building Products. During this transition period, access to some of the features you were familiar with on the Harvey Secure Site will change or be temporarily unavailable as we unveil the new, feature packed LansingNOW online experience. Visit the updated Harvey Welcome Landing page here to learn more about LansingNOW, for important information on Secure Site Access, and updated FAQs, key for this transition period.

The associates in your local branch and operations support teams look forward to making this transition as seamless as possible for you and stand ready to assist you with any questions you may have.

It's a privilege to serve so many customers who share a similar desire to deliver quality products that bring greater value to homes throughout the country. I hope you, your families and your businesses continue to remain safe and well during this time.

Warmest regards,

HUNTER LANSING
